Head Teacher's Notice

Friday 14th July 2017

During the last two weeks, I have unfortunately been inundated with Leave of Absence requests from parents telling me that they are taking their child out of school early to go on holiday. This has left the school community very disappointed and disheartened when we work incredibly hard to achieve the potential for each child. Every day at school is important, and can never be regained. Many parents wrongly assume that the end of the academic year is a time when things slow down - this is not the case. Teaching and Learning continues to the last day. It is also a time (like today's fantastic Award's Assembly) to celebrate the pupils' many achievements with presentations and assemblies, as well as being such an important time for transition, and wishing our Year 6 pupils luck for their future. We thank you for supporting our wonderful Catholic school.

We now look forward to a fantastic last week of this academic year. Have a wonderful weekend,

N. Watson
